One day, when the animals were getting water from the River, Rabbit asked,

"Where on Earth does all this water come from?"

No one knew the answer.