They soon reached Creede, the source of the Big River.

By this time Coyote knew the answer.

"I think the River should run in just one direction."

"So, by the powers given to me by the Great Spirit, I now declare it so!"

And Big River at once began to flow only South.